“While we have time let us do good to all” Galatians 6:10

This policy has been written with regard to the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015, the Prevent Duty Guidance for England and Wales (updated March 2024), Working Together to Safeguard Children and Keeping Children Safe in Education 2026.

Harris CofE School is committed to providing a secure environment for all of our students, staff and stakeholders. There is no place for extremist views of any kind in our school.

Prevent is about safeguarding people and communities from the threat of terrorism.

Prevent is part of the government’s counter-terrorism strategy. It aims to stop people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism using early engagement to encourage and support individuals to challenge ideologies and behaviours.

The Prevent strategy

- Responds to the ideological challenge of terrorism and the threat we face from those who promote it
- Provides practical help to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism and ensure they are given appropriate advice and support
- Works with a wide range of sectors (including education, criminal justice, faith, charities, online and health) where there are risks of radicalisation that we need to address

The strategy covers all forms of terrorism, including far right extremism and some aspects of non-violent extremism.

The Counter Terrorism & Security Act (2015)

This Act places a duty on specified authorities including schools, Further and Higher Education, to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism otherwise called ‘the Prevent duty’.

At Harris CofE Academy, we are committed to supporting vulnerable students through our safeguarding policies and procedures and recognise that this will support the school’s contribution to the Prevent duty.

At Harris CofE School Academy, we build students’ resilience to radicalisation by promoting fundamental British values and enabling our students to challenge extremist views.

In addition we:

- As a Church of England academy, we seek to promote dignity, respect, inclusion and understanding of different faiths, beliefs and cultures, enabling pupils to contribute positively to life in modern Britain.
- Promote the fundamental British values in our curriculum
- Make sure our school is a safe space for pupils to discuss sensitive topics, including terrorism and extremism
- Ensure we have robust safeguarding procedures to identify children at risk
- Engage with our local authority's (LA's) risk assessment to determine the potential risk of individuals being drawn into terrorism in our local area of Rugby
- Make sure we have appropriate filtering and monitoring systems in place to protect pupils from harmful online content, including extremist and terrorist material, and regularly review their effectiveness.
- Recognise that radicalisation can take place both online and offline and ensure that staff are aware of the risks posed through social media, online platforms, gaming environments, messaging applications and extremist content shared via the internet.

- Make sure staff receive training to help them identify pupils at risk, challenge extremist ideas, and know how to act if they have a concern

The academy recognises that individuals may be exposed to extremist ideologies and radicalising influences both online and in person. As part of our safeguarding responsibilities, appropriate filtering and monitoring systems are in place and are informed by the academy's Prevent risk assessment. Staff are trained to identify concerns relating to online radicalisation and to respond in accordance with safeguarding procedures.

Harris CofE Academy recognises that the curriculum plays a key role in safeguarding pupils from radicalisation and extremism. Through our PSHE, Relationships and Health Education, Religious Education, Computing and wider pastoral curriculum, pupils are supported to develop the knowledge, skills and resilience needed to recognise and challenge extremist narratives.

The curriculum promotes fundamental British values, mutual respect, tolerance, critical thinking, media literacy and responsible online behaviour. Pupils are provided with opportunities to discuss and debate sensitive issues in a safe and supportive environment, helping them to understand diverse viewpoints, challenge prejudice and discrimination, identify misinformation and disinformation, and know how to seek help if they have concerns.

Prevent education is further supported through collective worship, assemblies, themed events, online safety education, student leadership opportunities and the promotion of positive relationships across the school community.

The academy has engaged positively with appropriate training to ensure that all staff have the skills and knowledge to refer any concerns appropriately. We challenge extremist views, prejudice, derogatory language and provide a broad and balanced curriculum in order that students become tolerant of difference and diversity. The possible signs and indicators that a student may be vulnerable to radicalisation can be found in appendix 1.

Referral for any issue concerning potential radicalisation to extremism should be managed as any other safeguarding referral.

Where concerns indicate that a pupil may be susceptible to radicalisation, the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) will consider whether a Prevent referral is appropriate. Such referrals may be considered through the Channel Programme, a voluntary, confidential multi-agency process that provides early support to individuals who may be vulnerable to being drawn into terrorism. Any referral will be managed in line with local safeguarding procedures and statutory guidance.

The Assistant Head and DSL for safeguarding is the nominated Single Point of Contact (SPOC) The Governing Body receives regular updates regarding the effectiveness of Prevent arrangements and annual review of the Prevent risk assessment. Further details about the duties of the SPOC can be found in Appendix 2.

Appendix 1 - Indicators of vulnerability to radicalisation

1. KCSIE refers to radicalization as the process of a person legitimising support for, or use of, terrorist violence.

2. Extremism is defined by the Government in the Prevent Strategy as: Vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. We also include in our definition of extremism calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in this country or overseas.

3. Extremism is defined by the Crown Prosecution Service as:

The demonstration of unacceptable behaviour by using any means or medium to express views which:

- Encourage, justify or glorify terrorist violence in furtherance of particular beliefs;
- Seek to provoke others to terrorist acts;
- Encourage other serious criminal activity or seek to provoke others to serious criminal acts;
- or
- Foster hatred, which might lead to inter-community violence in the UK.

4. There is no such thing as a “typical extremist”: those who become involved in extremist actions come from a range of backgrounds and experiences, and most individuals, even those who hold radical views, do not become involved in violent extremist activity.

5. Students may become susceptible to radicalisation through a range of social, personal and environmental factors - it is known that violent extremists exploit vulnerabilities in individuals to drive a wedge between them and their families and communities. It is vital that school staff are able to recognise those vulnerabilities.

6. Indicators of vulnerability include:

- Identity Crisis – the student is distanced from their cultural / religious heritage and experiences discomfort about their place in society
- Personal Crisis – the student may be experiencing family tensions; a sense of isolation; and low self-esteem; they may have dissociated from their existing friendship group and become involved with a new and different group of friends; they may be searching for answers to questions about identity, faith and belonging
- Personal Circumstances – migration, local community tensions and events affecting the student’s country or region of origin may contribute to a sense of grievance that is triggered by personal experience of racism or discrimination or aspects of Government policy
- Unmet Aspirations – the student may have perceptions of injustice; a feeling of failure; rejection of civic life
- Experiences of Criminality – which may include involvement with criminal groups, imprisonment and poor resettlement / reintegration
- Special Educational Need – students may experience difficulties with social interaction, empathy with others, understanding the consequences of their actions and awareness of the motivations of others

7. However, this list is not exhaustive, nor does it mean that all young people experiencing the above are at risk of radicalisation for the purposes of violent extremism.

8. More critical risk factors could include:

- Being in contact with extremist recruiters;
- Accessing violent extremist websites, especially those with a social networking element;
- Possessing or accessing violent extremist literature;
- Using extremist narratives and a global ideology to explain personal disadvantage;
- Justifying the use of violence to solve societal issues;
- Joining or seeking to join extremist organisations; and
- Significant changes to appearance and / or behaviour;
- Experiencing a high level of social isolation resulting in issues of identity crisis and / or personal crisis.

Appendix 2 - Preventing violent extremism - Roles and responsibilities of the single point of contact (SPOC)
